PERSONAL STATEMENT

My name is Wen and I am a Web Developer with experience in Javascript, Ruby on Rails, and the MEAN stack. My curiosity and interest in technology has lead me to become a web developer. This curiosity first directed me take a few online programming courses and has since ignited my passion for the field and led me to General Assembly's Web Immersion Program. With a background in banking and sales I was able to develop strong communication skills, continuously set and reach goals, and learn the importance of structuring and organization, all skills that have been vital to my development as a web developer and fuel my continued growth in this field. Equipped with these skills along with the knowledge that GA has provided me I am looking to apply my talents and passion to a Web developer position.
